AMERICAN, N° II.

Thomas, by the artful Grecians hired,

Moved that the ramparts might be broken down.

THE most authentic accounts have been received from Great Britain, that a large sum of money has been issued from the Treasury, to the minister of State, for secret services in America. The public is extremely interested in the consequences of this dark manœuvre, and therefore every indication of corruption should be attended to, every order in favour of passive obedience noticed, and the authors of every measure tending to break the union and harmony of the Colonies, held up to public view, and exposed to general indignation and contempt.

The application of public monies for secret services, has ever been considered as dangerous to the rights of a free people, especially in times of profound peace, when there is no necessity that spies should be maintained, or royal whores, and favourites bribed. Such an attack upon us is, of all others, the most alarming. It is like destroying us by poison—it places us in dangers from false brethren, and converts those we esteemed our friends into insidious enemies—it teaches them to speak peace, when they mean destruction; and under the specious

pretence of supporting government, to declare war against the constitution.

History affords instances of men in every age, who have preferred the enjoyment of wealth, to the possession of a good conseience, and who have committed the most infamous actions, to obtain the appellation of honourable, for themselves, or families.

Prudence tells us, that what has happened

in other countries, and in other ages, may happen in our own. It certainly is wise, in order to be watchful of those whom we have made the guardians of our happiness,

and take care that they do not turn the opportunities we have given them, of doing us good, into occasions of bringing us to ruin and disgrace.

The world has long had reason to think,

that the dependents on the favour of a court,

are not fit objects for the confidence of the people. It is difficult to serve two masters.

Men in such circumstances frequently cleave

to their interest, and reject the duties they owe their constituents.

It appears to me very extraordinary, that the people of this colony in general, should consider a Congress as a necessary expedient,

in these perilous times, that the letters of the Committee of Correspondence, appointed by the Assembly, should speak the same language; and that some of the members of that body should preside at the choice of Sir, you will never be esteemed a loyal subject to George the Third, by many of the best families in New York, if you make use of that unfashionable phrase;—Don't you know, Sir, that agreeable to R———n, D. C———r, and a great many more respectable political news paper and pamphlet writers, that Liberty and Rebellion are synonymous terms?

If you talk of liberty, why talk of loyalty? It is an obvious, flat contradiction in terms; the words convey as different a sense as whig and tory; they cannot be reconciled; if you profess yourself the latter, you must not wish for the former. A loyalist thinks his liberty no where so safe as in the possession of his Sovereign. He is as I have told you before, superior to laws: "they may direct, but cannot restrain a monarch; the subject's surest dependence is on the word of his King; as it is blasphemy to dispute what God may do, so it is rebellion in subjects to dispute what Kings may do."—Thus he raved on. I calmly interrupted—"I do not pretend Sir, to contradict, or answer your arguments, but should be glad to know the appellation of your party."—"We are distinguished by the appellation of Tories." Observe Sir, the inconsistent character of an American tory! A New-York loyalist! how great; how invulnerable! how unanswerable!—how little! how puerile! how detestable! I wished my little man a good night, and retired to my lodging, big with surprise, and flung with resentment.

Is it possible in a country like this, amongst a people who boast of liberty; whose ancestors, fled from their native country to this remote quarter of the globe; who abandoned their dearest connections, preferred solitude in an uncultivated wilderness, to society, fruitful fields and all the necessities and comforts of life; who braved the savage beast, conquered more savage men, and overcame difficulties unsurmountable but by the spirit of men pursuing liberty!—Is it possible in such a country, a Character like this, could be produced? Is it possible amongst such men, a reptile like this could be fostered? that such a recreant could have been educated!—how can this degeneracy be reasonably accounted for? Look, O fathers! to the education of your children; what is ingrained at schools and public seminaries, is hard to be eradicated—the youth generally leaves school, fraught with the sentiments of his tutor, therefore as you regard liberty, as you love your children, it behoves you to be particularly acquainted with the political sentiments of their preceptors; your inattention to this, may in time, the imperceptibly, work a total change of principles amongst you. What can be more dangerous to the liberties of a free state, than youth being nurtured in principles of despotism! such are the base of Great Britain, and such may be the bane of America—"The general education of the English youth," says a judicious writer, "is not adapted to cherish those sentiments of independence which are characteristic of a Briton; nor do our universities inculcate those fundamental principles of the English constitution, on which our ancestors founded a system of government, wherein the liberty of the subject is as absolutely secured, as the authority of the Sovereign.—Whilst a certain degree of perfection in the latin and greek tongues, is the business of public schools, the heavenly precepts which those once illustrious nations taught and professed, are totally neglected." Excuse this long digression Mr. printer, and with your permission I shall resume my story.

After wishing my tory acquaintance a good night, I thought it more advisable to tell him my opinion of his party, thro' the channel of your useful and impartial paper, than to dispute the matter with a hot headed New York loyalist; a hair brained high flying nonjuror, whose sentiments were as torrid, jacobinical and papistical, as the firebrands called Cavaliers in the days of the martyr Charles.

In Britain, since the accession of the gd William, of ever glorious memory, the epithet of tory has been held of an opprobrious or reproachful nature; while the appellation of whig, hath ever been denoted honourable—A whig can no more be an enemy to the house of Brunswick, and our happy constitution, than a tory can be a friend to either: the former are friends to an equal, or limited government; the latter to an absolute or arbitrary one. Despotism is the general characteristic of a tory—the love of liberty, the darling passion of a whig. The learned and judicious Mr. Hume, contrasts the principles of a whig and tory in the following manner. "A tory," says he "loved monarchy, and bore an affection to the house of Stuart, but the latter affection was the predominant inclination. A whig loved liberty and was a friend to the settlement in the protestant line; but the love of liberty was professedly his predominant inclination. At the revolution, the succession of the crown was the chief point with the tories; the security of our liberties, with the whigs."

It is well known, and cannot be denied by the hardiest son of despotism in your city, that on the demise of Queen Anne, had it not been for a few British nobles, who then presided in council, and held whiggish principles,—principles that even dignified nobility itself, we should then, and now perhaps, have been ruled by the arrogant, the tyrannical, the detestable race of the Stuarts; a family as odious to the whigs, as dear to the tories, for say they—"they are the Lord's anointed, and who dare say unto them what dost thou?"

If, Sir, your countrymen must be Tories, they must be friends to despotism, and the Stuarts. Observe what the above judicious writer says, "A Tory loved monarchy, and bore an affection to the house of Stuart." How then can they vainly and ignorantly pretend to be friends to the house of Hanover?—It is repugnant to reason and common sense, and cannot be admitted.—Despotism and Toryism, are inseparable; and an Irish Papist, a Scotch Jacobite, and an English or American Tory, bear such a close similitude in political sentiment, that little difference could ever yet be discovered by the most nice and accurate researchers.—The Whigs, have ever been the real and natural friends to the reigning family, which to them alone are indebted for the regal dignity, and by them alone must be supported. Every Englishman as well as American, ought to know, and he must be ignorant indeed that doth not know, that ever since that happy era of the glorious and memorable revolution, to be a faithful and loyal subject, he must not only be loyal in supporting the crown and dignity of his Prince, but faithful in support of those principles on which he obtained them, and that constitution on which his title is founded.—They are inseparable; the welfare and prosperity of the people, and the dignity of the crown, cannot be divided. If you are a Traitor to the one, you must be a Rebel to the other; for whoever attempts to remove the limitations necessary to render monarchy consistent with Liberty, are Rebels in the worst sense; Rebels to the laws of their country, the laws of nature, and the revealed law of God.—These were the glorious sentiments of our revered forefathers, whose greatness, compared with the littleness of modern times, appears more than human. Alas! that greatness of soul, that love of Independency, which should be ever inherent in Britons, in every British subject, is contaminated, is effectively drawn from us by the artifice and corrupt influence of Courtiers! Can there be such men? was I to put the question to my own heart, it would answer, it was impossible. But the annals of our country have a shameful tale to tell; for absurd as are the principles on which the doctrine of slavery is founded, and arbitrary power established, there have ever been found many to adopt them.—Britain has ever produced a number of bad citizens, who prone to be corrupted, have ever been the ready tools of wicked ministers, and the zealous partisans in a cause, big with the ruin of the state. Corruption, that secret and certain destroyer of virtue, that engine of despotism, hath become so universal in Great Britain, (and it hath not already, it will soon, make its way across the Atlantic) that, says an English writer, it has dissolved the sacred bands of mutual trust, where, by the influence of Bribery, every man has a strong temptation to sin against his country; the emoluments of favour, the fear of being laughed at, for his honesty; of being abandoned by his associates, and left single to stand the insults of a victorious faction, are all strong incitements, for men to betray the interests of their country." I hope, Mr. Printer, that should this gigantic monster of darkness, ever appear amongst you, the American Worthies, Patriots, Whigs, will chase him out of the land, and if he will not run, he must be worried; for where this monster exists, Liberty is a phantom, and can only be enjoyed in idea. Luxury is the handmaid to Bribery and Corruption. It is your duty Mr. Printer, to tell your Countrymen to be content with a constitutional connection; to be not over ambitious for title or place; cultivate their forests, they will secure to them Independence and freedom; and to be free, is to be great; to be a slave, is to be little; though rolling in a gilded chariot, or favoured by the gracious smiles of the greatest Potentate on earth. I am, Mr. Printer, a Well wisher to the rights of humanity, and your humble servant,

New York, 21st }
February, 1775. } BRITANNICUS.

To the PRINTER.

THE week before last Mr. Livingston, thought proper "to draw the attention of his readers to himself," by publishing a "final appeal to the public" for the truth of his assertion that he is "a free impartial printer." I confess I was astonished when I read his paper, at the degree of assurance with which the appeal is made; for it immediately occurred to me, that he had been stigmatized for his partiality as a printer, from one end of the continent almost to the other;—that almost every week, for several months past, has produced resolves of committees against him, as partial; as an enemy to this country, and a liberator of mankind, and resolutions against any connection or intercourse with him;—and that in consequence hereof so many of the subscribers for his paper in South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, and Massachusetts-Bay, had ordered their names to be struck out of his list, that he can have but few left. This, I thought, would have convinced him he was partial as a printer, or if it had not this effect, that it would at least have made him sensible the public and he differed very widely in sentiment, and it would be prudent to change his plan of operations; but instead of this, we find him holdly appealing to the public, who have thus openly censured him,—appealing to them as knowing him to be possessed of that impartiality, the want of which, has been the very cause of their severity against him! I!!!! As his modesty has suffered him to go so far, perhaps we may find him hereafter tripping, should his appeal be passed over in silence.—To prevent this, it may be worth while, to refresh his memory respecting some particular matters. Soon after he set up a news paper, he gave out that the pieces printed in it must be paid for: many at that time suspected his design was to discourage the whig writers, by making them pay dearly for what they published, and to encourage the tories, by publishing for them gratis: whoever will examine the "New York Gazetteer" will have reason to think the suspicion was well founded, for from that time the number of papers in favour of liberty has decreased, while those against it have been multiplied.—

The vindication of those gentlemen at Boston, who are appointed to distribute the collections made in the other colonies, was refused admittance by Mr. Livingston, (notwithstanding they had been bailed by him) because the persons who brought it would not pay extravagantly for having it printed in the news paper.

Other papers were sent him for publication, but did not make their appearance. Upon being asked the reason, Mr. Livingston replied, "they were blown out of the printing office window." These were whig papers. The account of the proceedings of some inhabitants of the town of Rye, was sent to Mr. Gaine to be printed; Mr. Livingston heard of it and told a person from Rye he would print it, and accordingly did.—This was a tory paper.—

One instance more and I have done. In the New York Journal printed the week before the "appeal" was made, Mr. Livingston was accused of the most glaring partiality in publishing such parts of letters from London, and elsewhere, as could be made to suit his purpose, and suppressing the rest, and two striking instances were mentioned, in which he had acted in this manner; instead of vindicating his conduct, or so much as denying the charge, he has passed over this matter in silence, and appealed to the public for his impartiality; but with how much justice or propriety, let the public now judge:—they may at the same time determine with how much truth he asserts that "no attempt has been made to convict him of partiality," after the charge of mutilating those letters that had been brought against him.

I think I have now proved that his "news paper is not impartial";—that he keeps "a free press" I readily allow; it is so in two respects,—through the long suffering of an ingenuitous people, it as yet labours under no restraint from them;—and from the scurrility, falsehood, and obsequy with which this weekly vehicle is loaded, it appears to be under no restraint from the printer himself; however, I hope soon to see an alteration as to the latter, for the honest man seems sensible he has been too much connected with dirt, and wishes to "have an opportunity of cleaning himself." Whether his company, or his press has dirtied him, or whether he dirtied himself in consequence of "the howling of wolves," cannot be easily determined: but in either case, some of his tory manuscripts may, perhaps, be serviceable.

At a meeting of the Committees of observation for the several towns and districts of Huntington, Smith Town, Islip, and South-Haven, and some of the principal inhabitants of the Town of Brook Haven, in the county of Suffolk, and Province of New York, held at Smith Town, on the 23d day of February, 1775.

Col PLATT CONKLIN, being Chairman, RESOLVED 1st. Nem. con. That the proceedings of the Committee of Correspondence for this county, at their meeting on the 15th November last, be published in the New-York Journal, or General Advertiser.—

Which proceedings are as followeth.—At a meeting of the Committee of Correspondence for the county of Suffolk, in the Province of New York, at the County Hall, on the 15th day of November, 1774. I. Voted, That we do recommend it to the several towns in this county, to set forward a subscription for the employment and relief of the distressed poor in the town of Boston, to be collected in such manner as the Commis-tees in each town shall judge proper, to be in readiness to be forwarded early next spring.

II. Voted. That Mr. John Forster have the care of procuring a vessel to call at the several harbours in this county to receive and carry the above donations to Boston, for the purpose aforesaid.

III. Voted. That we do fully approve of the proceedings of the late Continental Congress, and recommend it to the Committees of the different towns, to see that the association by them entered into, on behalf of themselves and their constituents, be strictly observed.

Signed by order of the Committees,

ERRA L'HOMEILLE, Clerk. 2. Resolved, nem. con. That we think ourselves under obligations of gratitude to the worthy gentleman, in particular, who represented this county in the late Continental Congress, and to that whole assembly in general, for their noble, patriotic, and faithful discharge of their important trust.

3. Resolved, nem. con. That a letter be sent to William Nicol, and Nathaniel Woodhull, Esqrs. Representatives of this county, informing them, that if a motion should be made in the House for appointing Delegates to represent this Province at the Continental Congress, to be held at Philadelphia, in May next, it is our opinion and desire, that they should join in their appointment.

4. Resolved, nem. con. That in case the Assembly do not appoint Delegates for the purpose above mentioned, the Committee of Correspondence for the City of New-York, be desired, and they are accordingly, hereby desired, in that case to call a Provincial Convention, for that purpose.

5. Resolved, nem. con. That we do highly disapprove of the conduct of Major Benjamin Floyd, and others, inhabitants of Brookhaven, in this county, as it is represented by Mr. Livingston's and Mr. Gaine's papers; and it is our firm opinion, that most of the subscribers to the writing in said papers mentioned, were induced to sign it, by unfair practices and misrepresentations, for we are credibly informed, that a great number of them are very much dissatisfied, that they have signed an instrument, which, they, since, understand, is in opposition to the measures of the Congress, and unfriendly to the liberties of their country.

6. Resolved, nem. con. That we think, that all those publications, which have a tendency to divide us, and thereby weaken our opposition to measures taken to enslave us, ought to be treated with the utmost contempt, by every friend to his country:—In particular the pamphlet entitled, A Friendly Address, &c. And those under the signature of A. W. Farmer, and many others to the same purpose, which are replete with the most impudent falsehoods, and the grossest misrepresentations: And that the authors, printers, and abettors of the above, and such like publications, ought to be esteemed and treated, as traitors to their country, and enemies to the liberties of America.

Signed by order of the meeting,

PLATT CONKLIN, Chairman. N. B. Most of the towns and districts in this county, have, at public town meetings, fully adopted the measures recommended by the Congress, and determined upon a strict observance of the association.

BY VIRTUE of a power contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage, made and executed in due form of law, by John Hudson, to me the Subscriber, bearing date the second day of May in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and sixty nine, PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given, that there will be exposed to sale at public Vendue, on the premises, on Tuesday the 29th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, agreeable to the directions of an act of the legislature of the colony of New York, entitled, "an act for the more effectual registry of mortgages, and for securing the Purchasers of mortgaged estates," passed the 19th of March, 1774. NEW-YORK, March 2.

To the PRINTER.

Among the other fallacies that have been propagated by the ministerial tools, who are aiming to destroy the English constitution and enslave the Colonies, it has been asserted, in order to discourage our present measures, that the American trade is of so little consequence, that Great-Britain would not be materially affected, if that trade should be totally suspended or discontinued; which is so far from being true, that more than half the whole trade of Great Britain and Ireland, is with America, as will be evident from the following estimate, the truth of which may be depended upon, as it comes from good authority.

THE amount of the Exports of Great-Britain and Ireland, in one year to all parts of the world, in British manufactures and other articles of commerce, exclusive of bullion.

To the East Indies,	£. 350,000
Africa,	150,000
Levant,	50,000
Spain, Portugal, and all other countries from Gibraltar, to the Baltic,	1,150,000
Baltic,	250,000
Sterling,	£. 1,950,000

Perhaps the whole amount of the above home made manufactures, exported to the above places may be £. 2,000,000

To America, including the islands, 3,600,000

£. 5,600,000

So that America takes off more of the British and Irish manufactures, than all the world besides.

The following is from a Gentleman of undoubted Veracity.

To THE PRINTER,

I observed in Mr. Gaine's Mercury of last Monday, an assertion (that three fourths of the people in the Manor of Cortlandt, have declared their unwillingness to enter into Congressional measures.) which is an imposition upon the Public. There is not any of the Landholders in said Manor, except one C—y a miller, at Peck's Kill, and a few interlopers of his kindred, that are of that perverse sentiment. The Proprietors of the Manor of Cortlandt, together with all the other Landholders, except the above miller and his few adherent Tories, are unanimous in favour of the Congress measures. Should be glad you would give a hint in your paper, of the sense of the people in the Manor, that that notorious false assertion, may appear in its true light, I am, &c. March 18, 1775.

Another letter from the same place.

"An artful piece has been handed about here, condemning the proceedings of the Congress, and asserting absolute dominion to the King and Parliament, and the question is put 'You must sign the paper, that you join the King, otherwise you will be declared rebels; and when the King's standard is set up you will be destroyed—Come, I'm in haste, will you sign it, or not?'—Thus, are people drawn into an act, which, on reflection, they abhor."

At a meeting of the General Assembly of Georgia, in Savannah, on the 18th January. The Governor opened the session with the most soothing and affectionate speech, wherein he addressed the passions, rather than the reason of his audience, and urged them not to irritate the British nation, (that is the ministry) by adopting the measures of the other Colonies. But by the address of the two Houses, it appears, that the Upper House, though they say they disapprove some of the measures of the other Colonies, yet appear to be heartily disposed to maintain their rights and liberties—"that they may enjoy all the rights and privileges of British subjects, as fully and effectually, in all respects, as the inhabitants of Great Britain do; and to that end think it necessary, that their constitutional rights should be clearly and fully defined, and firmly established." &c.

The Commons House of Assembly say,—"They should be insensible, not to feel their numerous grievances and with them redressed. That they only contend for the enjoyment of their constitutional rights and liberties—which soften every care of life, and render existence itself desirable."

The General Assembly of South Carolina met at Charleston, the 24th ult. when the Governor in his speech, told them, he had nothing in command from the King, to lay before them &c. At this the Commons House in their Address, express their surprise, as their Agent had informed them, "That the additional instruction, which had so often been complained of, and remonstrated against, had been withheld in the instructions made out to the new appointed Governor: This cruel neglect, as well of his honour, as of the colony, they considered as an aggravation of the many oppressive acts of the present Ministry &c."

The Governor in his answer, evades the subject, says, it is his duty to conform punctually to instructions, that he considers in the royal wisdom, that when he sees any alterations necessary, his pleasure will be transmitted by his Ministers, &c.

We have authentic Advices of the 22d of last Month, from Ulster County, that on Saturday Night the 18th, Mr. John Schoonmaker being in Bed, overheard the following Conversation between his own Negro York and a Negro named Joe, belonging to Mr. Johannes Schoonmaker, viz.

York. How many?—Joe. A great many.—York. From where?—Joe. From Keyserick, Hurly, and Kingston.—York. How much Powder have they?—Joe. Two Pounds.—York. That is not enough, they should have more to get through with it, and Drums enough to prevent hearing the Cries. They will begin, two at your House, Two at John De Puis, and in Proportion, more at other Houses. It will be put in Execution between this and Wednesday night; when once begun, we must go through with it. We are to set fire to the Houses, and stand by the Doors and Windows, to receive the People as they come out.

The above (in Substance) being depofed before a Magistrate, the two Negroes were committed to Goal; and together with several other Negroes, examined next Day before four Magistrates who met for that purpose but no further Discoveries could then be made.

A Letter from said Place, names Marbletown, as well as the three above mentioned, and that the Negroes were to be divided into parties, to fire the Houses, cry Fire, and kill the People as they came out.—The Motive for this Conspiracy, was the Recovery of their Freedom. A large Quantity of Powder and Ball was found with several Negroes, and there are said to be Advices in Town, that besides the two Negroes before mentioned, seventeen or eighteen more have been committed to Goal.

A Report has likewise been current in Town for a Day or two past, that these Negroes were to be joined by five or six Hundred Indians, but it does not appear that there is any good Foundation for the Report.

The Provincial Congress for Massachusetts Bay, have Resolved, That Thursday the 16th Instant, be observed as a Day of Fasting and Prayer.

The General Assembly of the Island of Barbados, have drawn up a spirited Petition to be transmitted to Great Britain, and to be presented to his Majesty, in Favour of America.

On Tuesday last, between twelve and one O'clock, the new Hospital at Renelagh, a large pile of building, lately erected and nearly finished, was discovered to be on Fire; the Workmen being all gone to Dinner, and the Rooms lumbered with combustible Materials, the Flames spread so fast, that before any Help could be called, they were got to too great a Height to be suppressed, and the whole wooden Part of the Building, the erection of which had been the Work of many Months, was, in about one Hour, reduced to Ashes.—It is unknown by what Means the Accident happened; but it is supposed that the Shavings might have been left too near the Fire.—It is hoped, however, that Charity, which reared this Structure, will cause another to spring from its Ashes, for the Relief of the distressed Poor.

By Capt Quill who arrived here Yesterday, in 30 Days from the Bay of Honduras, we learn that the Inhabitants of that Place are about to send a Donation of 100,000 Feet of Mahogany, to be sold in Europe for the relief of the poor of Boston.

Extract of a Letter from Philadelphia, dated Feb. 20, 1775.

"We are astonished that your sons of liberty and committee, suffer that base fellow Rivington, to continue publishing his vile calumnies of every province in America: I am sure was he in this place, he would have been called on long ago to give up the authors of so much falsehood, as is contained weekly in his paper. We had an attempt of the same kind, by a printer in this place, who has just set up a paper, and last week published an extract of a letter, said to be from Kent County on Delaware, reflecting highly on the present measures adopted by the Congress, and asserting that nine tenths of that County were opposed to them.—Our committee sent an express to the committee of that County immediately, and requested them to let us know their true state;—they in answer have given us the strongest assurances, that the letter is a base calumny, and that the County are universally well affected to the American cause;—they further requested we would call on the printer and demand the author of him; this we have done;—the printer has given us the name of the person who handed him the extract, and this evening we meet to call said person before us;—the Tories among us are all confounded at our proceeding, and it is thought it will be found at last, that the letter was fabricated by a Juno in this town;—this is strongly suspected to be the case of many publications in Rivington's paper, said to be extracts of letters from Maryland, Philadelphia, &c.—Such villains deserve not to live among us, and perhaps it will become necessary to make examples of some of them to deter others from the like practices.

[The Printer acknowledges a Promise to his Newtown Correspondents, to insert their Pieces; but upon Trial, found it impossible, without contradicting them in a Manner that would have injured their Sense. Affairs in Boston seem to have undergone no late material Alteration.]

To the Freeholders, and Freemen, of the City and County of New-York.

AS the last Congress, held at Philadelphia, recommended, that another Congress should be convened at the same place, on the 10th day of May next, and the election of Delegates, ought not to be longer delayed, most of the other colonies having already appointed them. And as the Committee has no power without the approbation of their Constituents, to take any measures for that purpose. They therefore request that the Freeholders and Freemen of the city and county of New-York, will be pleased to assemble at the Exchange, on Monday, the 6th instant, at 12 o'clock, to signify their sense of the best method of choosing such Delegates, and whether they will appoint a certain number of persons, to meet such Deputies, as the counties may elect for that purpose, and join with them in appointing, out of their body, Delegates for the next Congress.

Committee Chamber, 1st March, 1775.

By Order of the Committee,

ISAAC LOW, Chairman.

ALL Persons who have any Demands upon the Estate of John Quackenbush, late of this City, deceased, are desired to bring in their Accounts; and all Persons indebted to said Estate, either by Bond, Note or Book Debt, are desired to make speedy Payment to Margaret Quackenbush, Executrix, John Quackenbush, Executors.

WHEREAS the store of the subscribers, was broke open and robbed, in the night of Tuesday, the 23d Instant, of a sum of money, supposed upwards of Thirty Pounds; the robbery supposed to be committed by a man, who worked for Darby Doyle, on Staten Island, a year or two ago, and passed by the name of John Williams: He is a tall slim fellow, much marked with the small-pox, and has a down look; wore a brown fur coat, a reddish coat and reddish waistcoat, a new pair of leather breeches, new shoes and black stockings, had a pair of Gold sleeve buttons, one tied with thread, the link being broke. The money known to be lost, is one Five Pound Bill York currency, one three Three Pound Pennsylvania, new emission, marked on the back G. S. one Half Johannes, one Four Dollar Bill, Maryland money, the remainder in Pennsylvania and New Jersey Bills, and some Silver; he wore a new hat made by John Dennis, lin'd with red, and had an old pair of greasy leather breeches and sundry other articles, tied up in a bundle, and may have taken some goods, not yet missed. Whoever secures said robber, or any of his associates, so that he, or they may be brought to justice, shall on conviction, receive Ten Pounds, Proclamation money, of New-Jersey, and all reasonable charges, from JOHNSTON and BARBERIE, Perth Amboy, 27th February, 1775.

MARY DECAMP,

HAVING lately been advertised in the public newspapers, as having eloped from her husband, Morris Decamp, of Elizabethtown, where by the public would naturally be led to conclude, that she had in some respect or other misbehaved to her said husband. Therefore, in vindication of her injured character, she thinks herself obliged to declare, that tho' in marrying him, she disobliged all her friends, and always behaved as a faithful and dutiful wife to him; yet she has experienced from him continual ill usage of the worst kind; that for a criminal attempt upon a young woman, he was obliged to leave the place, and she was reduced to the necessity of returning to her mother.—That when the affair was made up, and she was prevailed on, to live with him again, by his low commerce with other women, he contracted and designedly communicated to her, a leathome disease, which greatly endangered her life, and from which she with great difficulty recovered.—Since which, not thinking herself safe with him, she has continued with her mother; and her husband has absconded, to avoid the payment of his debts.

WE bear from Perth Amboy, in New-Jersey, that a certain Thomas Carman, was, a few days ago, committed to the common goal of that City, on an action, for propagating a most false, scandalous, and improbable report, of a certain Gentleman in high office, in that province: Which report, the said Carman confessed, upon his apprehension, that he knew to be false, when he first published it.—A free Malotto fellow, named Nathaniel Chase, is also committed to the goal of Somerset County, in the said Province, for being concerned with the said Carman, in the invention of the same wicked, absurd, and ridiculous story.

RUN AWAY from the subscriber on the 26th of February last, an Irish servant boy, named Thomas Folton, about 16 years of age, has a long face and nose, and a down look; came from the county of Tyrone, with Captain Cheevers; had on a half worn hat, a wilton coat, a broad cloth jacket, without sleeves, a pair of breeches of the same, a white shirt, a light pair of knit woolen stockings, a pair of single sole shoes, and plated buckles. It is suspected that he was deluded away by one of Mr. Zedwitz's sweepers, who ran away at the same time, and perhaps they are gone towards Philadelphia, as he several times said that he had a brother in Pennsylvania. Whoever takes up the said runaway, shall have Five Dollars reward, and all reasonable charges, paid by JOHN WETZEL, Baker, in Bayard Street.

P. S. Those inferring the foregoing, intelligence has been received, that the above runaway went off in a boat belonging to Mr. Barker, which they stole from the Ketchikan dock.

judges, to be one of the best brood mares in Yorkshire and her breed has proved it there, in three capital battles out of her, one of which has been proved, &c. one thousand guineas have been frequently refused for him. Golden Farmer is the property, and was bred by Mr. John Hutchinson. This is a true

The Chief Justice, Richard Stockton, Esq;
Daniel Cox, Esq; John Lawrence, Esq;
Francis Hopkinson, Esq;

The Board refused the Consideration of the Charges brought by the Earl of Sierling, against Samuel Ogden, Esq and having duly examined and weighed the Evidence on both Sides produced to the Board, are of Opinion, that the said Charges are not in any wise supported;—but that on the contrary, the Conduct of the said Samuel Ogden, in his Endeavours to discover the Persons concerned in the counterfeiting the Bills of Credit of this Province, and other atrocious Villanies, to have been that of a vigilant and upright Magistrate: And they are further of Opinion, that it is in a great Measure owing to his Activity and Zeal for the public Good, that a Gang of Villains very mischievous to this and the neighbouring Provinces, have been detected, and some of them brought to Justice. The Board do therefore think proper to give Mr. Ogden the fullest Assurances of their Approbation of his Conduct, as a good Magistrate.

Just published, and to be sold by the printer hereof, in Water-Street, near the City-House,
The whole proceedings of the continental con gress, held at Philadelphia, in September and October 1774, including their petition to the King,
all their letters, memorials, &c.

IN this edition, care has been taken, to com prise the whole that has been published, both in the extracts of the proceedings of the congress,
published by their order, and in their Journal.
—In the manner these have been hitherto published, there was a necessity of purchasing both these tracts, for tho' in the JOURNAL, there was nearly a repetition of the same things that were contained in the Extracts; yet as they lay scattered in different places, and were sometimes expressed in different words, the reader could not know from the Journal, what the congress thought proper to publish as the result of their delibera tions; and therefore the proceedings of the congress
could not be fully understood, without purchasing both the Journal and the Extracts, which as they were first printed, took up near two hundred pages in octavo, and were sold at 5/6 Philadelphia money; whereas this for less than half the price, includes the whole, and is much more con venient.

In this edition, the Extracts are placed together,
in the same order in which the congress thought proper to publish them; and in the Journal, when ever any particular matter was determined by the congress, the reader is referred to the page where it is to be found in the Extracts, and thus a needless repetition is avoided. The petition to his Majesty, which completes the whole of the congress's proce dings, is also added at the end; and for the more convenient finding any particulars, a table of con tents.
